The Summer Solstice. Longest Day of the year. Has been celebrated in Ireland for thousands of years. Pagans believed that the summer solstice was when the sun was at its highest, which made it powerful. Due to this, the summer solstice became a sacred time of year. It also became a time to banish evil spirits with the light of the sun. Ancient people would also use this to pray for a good harvest since the solstice occurred half of the way through the season in which crops were already growing.
