Our community lost another well-known member this week with the passing of Winnifred (Winnie) Doyle Kilcarry who was interred in Clonegal on Monday January 17th. We offer our heartfelt sympathy to her family and many friends and may she rest in peace.

Interesting Facts???? Public houses were far greater in number than they are now in our recent history. What is now known as Kildavin village at one time had two public houses. An O'Neill family owned a pub in Lackabeg which was thatched until 1912 and was situated at the junction with the Myshall Road. The building subsequently became Sinnott's shop. It recently burned down while vacant.
