Interesting Facts???? Pat Murphy of Corragh was a well-known leader of the land league movement. He was evicted from his farm in Corragh and forced to shelter in a shed in Garryhasten. He returned to take possession of his land in Corragh with two men Ned Tobin and Myles Doyle. The landlord's agent produced a revolver, cocked it, aimed it at Murphy and threatened to shoot him if he entered the land. Murphy ignored the threat and with the gun trained on him broke down the gate into the land; the agent did not carry out his threat. That evening all three men were arrested and ultimately confined to Wexford gaol pending a court hearing.
